

- Personal stamp: Your own unique mark.
- Logbook: A notebook for stamps you collect.
- Inpad: For stamping, if needed.
- Clues: Printed or saved before you go.

BUILD YOUR KIT

03 / PACK LIGHT

04 / THE ADVENTURE

FOLLOW THE CLUES

Read the directions and look for landmarks. You might count steps from a tree, follow a path, or spot a special rock.

Be discreet. Don't give away the hiding place!

The tradition began in Dartmoor, England, in 1854. Every find is a little piece of art!

It's a treasure hunt where you follow written clues to discover hidden boxes and collect stamp impressions.

WHAT IS LETTERBOXING?

02 / THE BASICS

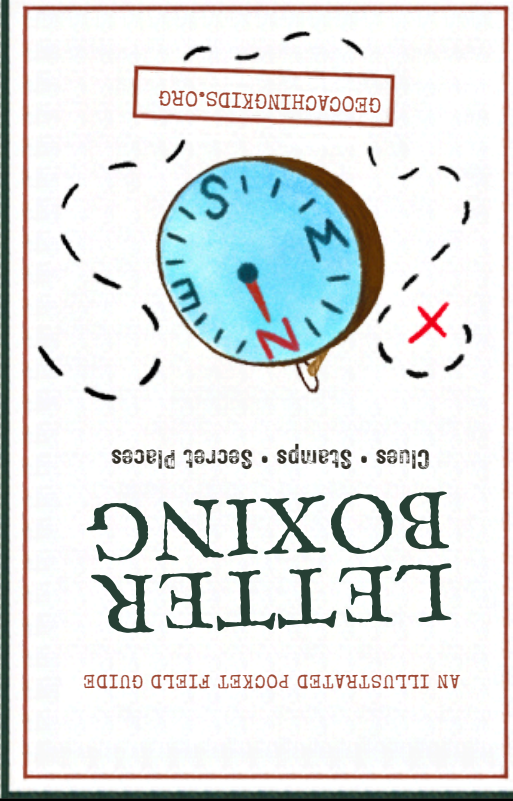

05 / MAKE YOUR MARK

STAMP & SWAP

Found the box? Time for the best part: exchanging stamp impressions.

Add the date and your trail name if there's room. Close everything carefully when you're done.

06 / LEAVE NO TRACE

BE A GOOD FINDER

- Keep the location a secret.
- Close the container tightly.
- Rehide it exactly as found.
- Respect plants, wildlife, and private property.
- Go with a trusted adult.

Adventure is out there. Follow the clues and make your mark!

My trail name:

at Geocaching.com
OR Letterboxing.org
AtlasQuest.com
Find letterboxing clues at:

READY TO EXPLORE?

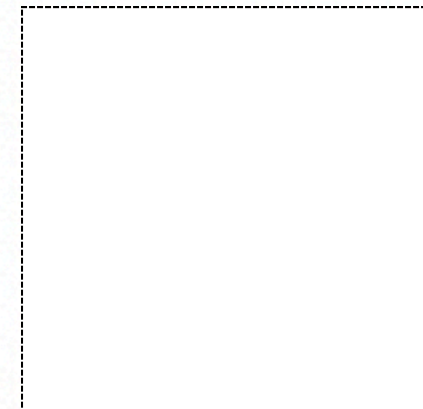

YOUR NEXT ADVENTURE

07 / GET CREATIVE

MAKE A STAMP

Draw a simple design: a leaf, star, animal track, or your initials.

Try a ready-made rubber stamp, or ask an adult to help with stamp-carving tools.

How to Make a Zine

from a sheet of paper

fold the paper in half lengthways

1.

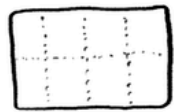

fold again, and once more

2.

3.

unfold the paper,
then fold it widthwise

4.

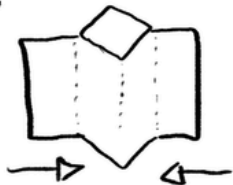

cut halfway on the center line

5.

unfold again, then fold lengthwise

6.

push the ends of the paper in
so the middle opens, then fold into a book

How to Make a Zine

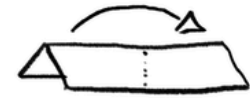

from a sheet of paper

fold the paper in half
lengthways

1.

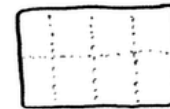

fold again, and once more

2.

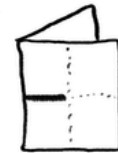

3.

unfold the paper,
then fold it widthwise

4.

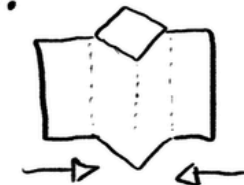

cut halfway on the center line

5.

unfold again, then fold lengthwise

6.

push the ends of the paper in
so the middle opens, then fold into a book